

ALERO AKPORIAYE
CURRICULUM VITAE

Rhode Island School of Design
Division of Liberal Arts
2 College Street
Providence, RI 02903

aakporia@risd.edu

Work Experience

Rhode Island School of Design
Assistant Professor of Political Economy (July 2016 - present)

Bates College, Politics Department
Visiting Lecturer in Politics (August 2015 - July 2016)
Visiting Assistant Professor (August 2014 - July 2015)

Education

University of Texas at Dallas	Public Policy and Political Economy	Ph.D. 2014
University of Texas at Dallas	Public Policy	MPP 2010
University of Arizona	Business Economics	BSBA 2005

Additional Training

Empirical Implications of Theoretical Models, Princeton University: 2012

Research

Research Interests

- International and comparative political economy
- Political risk and multinational corporations
- Politics of foreign direct investment
- Political economy of energy extraction
- Corporate social responsibility

Publications

Yeeles, Adam and Alero Akporiaye. Forthcoming. "Risk and Resilience in the Nigerian Oil Sector: The Economic Effects of Pipeline Sabotage and Theft. Energy Policy.

Working Papers

- "Does Political Risk Insurance Enable Foreign Direct Investment?"
- "An Empirical Examination of Political Risk Insurance and Post-Conflict Development."

Research in Progress

- "Managing Political Risk from the Obsolescing Bargain: The Case of Energy Multinationals."
- "Do Bilateral Investment Treaties lower the Price of Political Risk Insurance?"
- "Effects of Foreign Direct Investment on U.S. States"
- "Foreign direct investment and environmental governance"

“When Communities Attack: A Theoretical Framework for Contentious Action against Foreign Corporations in the Developing World.”

Conference Presentations

Midwest Political Science Association:	2011, 2013, 2015, 2016
International Studies Association:	2013 (Working group)
International Studies Association-South	2014
Northeastern Political Science Association:	2014

Teaching

Instructor of Record

Rhode Island School of Design

Political Economy of Global Supply Chains: Fall 2016

Political Economy of Natural Resources: Fall 2016

International Politics: Spring 2016

Women in the International Political Economy: Spring 2016

Bates College (Fall-2014-Winter 2016)

Political Economy of Natural Resources

International Political Economy

International Politics

Political Economy of Multinational Corporations

States and Markets

University of Texas at Dallas

Introduction to Social Statistics with Lab: Fall 2012

Development in Africa: Summer 2010

Teaching Assistant at the University of Texas at Dallas

The Political Economy of Multinational Corporations

World Resources and Development

Introduction to Quantitative Methods (Graduate)

Applied Regression (Graduate)

Introduction to Social Statistics with Lab

Service

Rhode Island School of Design

Member

RISD Global Committee

Bates College

Facilitator

Book Discussion: Dark Days, Bright Nights: From Black Power to Barack Obama by Dr. Peniel

Joseph at the Martin Luther King Jr. Observance, Bates College, January 2015

Mentor

Bobcat First! Program participant providing mentoring to first generation to college students

Participant in Faculty dinners with students

Professional Memberships

Midwest Political Science Association
International Studies Association
American Political Science Association
International Political Economy Society

Grants, Scholarships, and Awards

Bates Faculty Development Fund:	2015
University of Texas at Dallas Ph.D. Research Small Grants:	2013
Economic, Political, and Policy Sciences (UTD) Outstanding Teaching Comet Awards Nominee:	2012-2013
Betty and Gifford Johnson Graduate Scholarship:	2011
American Planning Association, TX (North Central Student Scholarship Award:	2009